

REMOVING PASSENGERS SAFELY FROM TITANIC, DISABLED BY ICEBERGS

WIRELESS DISPATCHES TO NEW YORK STATE THAT PASSENGERS ARE ALL SAFE AND BEING TRANSFERRED.

LINER BADLY DAMAGED

Monster Boat of White Star Line Seriously Disabled But Still Afloat Following Collision With Iceberg Off New-Foundland Coast.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, April 15.—The Canadian government marine agency here, at 4:15 P. M. received a wireless dispatch that the Titanic is sinking. The message came via the cable ship Minia, off Cape Race. It said that the steamer towing the Titanic was endeavoring to get her into shallow water near Cape Race for the purpose of beaching her.

New York, April 15.—Wireless dispatches up to noon today showed that the passengers of the monster White Star liner Titanic, which struck an iceberg off the Newfoundland coast last night, were being transferred.

Seventy boatloads of the Titanic's passengers have been transferred and allowing forty to sixty persons at the capacity of each lifeboat, some 800 or 1,200 persons already have been transferred from the danger zone.

The latest reports indicate that the transfer of passengers is being carried on successfully and safely. The sea is smooth and the weather calm. It is probable that all of the passengers on the Titanic are safe.

While badly damaged the Titanic is still afloat and is reported to be making her way toward Halifax under her own steam.

The accident occurred at 10:25 last night at a point about 400 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland, and about 1,100 miles east of New York.

News by Wireless.—The transfer of passengers from the disabled Titanic is now under way and twenty boatloads have already been taken aboard the steamship Carpathia.

News of the transfer was contained in a wireless dispatch received by P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the White Star line, from Captain Harbeck of the teamship Olympic, which is nearing the Titanic.

The dispatch states that the steamer Carpathia and Carpathia are in attendance upon the Titanic. The dispatch further states that the Titanic is making her way toward Halifax.

Without Information.—Montreal, April 15.—The officials of the Allen line said at noon that they were without information and did not expect to hear from the Virginia until she got near Halifax. They added that now her wireless operator was out of touch with land.

The local office of Horton Davidson, one of the Titanic passengers, has received the following wireless message: "All passengers are safe and the Titanic taken in tow by the Virginia."

Halifax, New York, April 15.—Dispatches from Halifax, Nova Scotia, this morning report that all passengers on board the Titanic left the ship shortly after 8:00 o'clock this morning.

Halifax, Montreal, Can., April 15.—"The Montreal Star" says that an unofficial dispatch from Halifax says that the Titanic was still afloat and was making her way slowly toward Halifax.

New York, April 15.—Officials of the White Star line have received no word here at eight o'clock this morning other than the press dispatches of the reported accident to the Titanic in collision with an iceberg.

They were unable to understand why they had not received direct dispatches from the Titanic.

The Titanic is the largest boat in the world. She had on board more than two thousand persons; one thousand, four hundred and seventy-nine passengers and a crew of eight hundred men. A large percentage, if not the majority of the passengers, were Americans.

Newspapers Despatched.—The newspaper offices were besieged in the early hours by inquiries of hundreds of persons shocked by the fragmentary newspaper notices seen at the breakfast table, but during the early morning hours there was nothing vital to add to the meagre report from Cape Race. Something further is expected every moment, but there was nothing at hand to relieve the anxiety shown in every quarter.

Victims of Disaster.—President P. A. Franklin of the International Mercantile Marine, the highest official of the White Star line, was one of the first to be notified of the reported disaster. Upon hearing the first report he spoke anxiously, saying that only eight or ten hours before the White Star officials had received a wireless giving the liner's position. He was sure it was not with any accident they would have heard from her promptly.

No Cause For Anxiety.—"We are absolutely satisfied that even if she was in collision with an iceberg she is in no danger," he said. "With her numerous watertight compartments she is unsinkable and it makes no difference what the reports are, they should cause no serious anxiety."

Statement Sent Out.—At nine o'clock this morning Mr. Franklin sent out the following statement: "We place absolute confidence

PARTY NEAR CRISIS SAYS LA FOLLETTE

Senator in Issue of Magazine States That Money Power is Making Final Stand.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., April 15.—Enforcing the sentiment he expressed in a recent stump speech, Senator La Follette in his magazine declares that the republican party faces a crisis in which it cannot afford to compromise for the sake of an apparent advantage.

He declares the trusts and money power are making their final stand to perpetuate their power and that the supreme court is with them.

"We are not at all worried about the loss of the ship, but we are extremely sorry for the annoyance and inconvenience to our passengers and the traveling public. You can make our views as forceful as you like regarding the capability of the ship to withstand any exterior damage."

"We figure the Virginia of the Atlantic Line will be alongside the Titanic by ten o'clock and we figure the Olympic of the White Star Line will be alongside the Titanic at eight o'clock and the Baltic by four in the afternoon."

No Word Received.—Mr. Franklin, after giving out the formal statement that they figured the boat was about one thousand and eighty miles from New York and six hundred miles from Halifax, added that no direct communication had been received from the liner. A hour later Mr. Franklin sent out the following statement:

"No alarm for Titanic passengers." Mr. Franklin said that while no direct message from the Titanic had been received at the office of the officials they were perfectly satisfied that there was no cause for alarm. They did not regard the suspension of wireless messages as denoting anything serious, as they may have been caused by some atmospheric disturbance.

The Titanic was able to withstand almost any exterior damage and could keep afloat almost indefinitely after being struck.

Aid on the Way.—"The Titanic is now in latitude 41:16 North and longitude 50:14 West," said Mr. Franklin. "She is being approached from the west by the White Star liner Olympic, which will be alongside at eight P. M. today. The Baltic, of the same line, which was sailing for Europe, has turned back and will be alongside the Titanic probably by four o'clock this afternoon. The Virginia of the Atlantic Line, eastward bound is reported to be approaching as rapidly as possible and should be alongside by ten o'clock this morning."

Need Transportation.—New Haven, Conn., April 15.—The operating offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railway companies have been notified that the passengers of the Titanic will be landed at Halifax. There will be about 600 passengers requiring transportation to New York by sleeping cars and some 800 by ordinary coaches.

HAD A BROTHER-IN-LAW ON DISABLED TITANIC A. G. Lawson of Chicago Anxious to Secure Latest News Regarding Collision of Liner.

A. G. Lawson of Chicago, who was in Janesville today, made inquiries at the Gazette office at noon today in regard to the fate of the passengers on the liner, Titanic, whose collision with the Newfoundland iceberg was meagerly reported in the morning papers.

Mr. Lawson stated that his brother-in-law was on the steamer when he had been in the interests of Carson, Pirie, Scott and company, Chicago. Mr. Lawson was relieved to learn that the passengers were safe and were being removed to the vessels which flocked to the aid of the disabled steamer.

OLD MISSISSIPPI CAUSES THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS LOSS

Louisiana Town of Tallulah Entirely Submerged and Residents Seek Safety in Boats.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Tallulah, La., April 15.—As far as the eye can reach northeast and west from the highest point in this town nothing but water can be seen. The Mississippi's flood tide escaped from a break in the levee near Abbeville and is sweeping through the town with the speed of a mill race. Many buildings are afloat. Scores of persons driven from their roofs on their buildings in Tallulah now are homeless.

A mile and a half north of here along the Iron Mountain railway the water is up to the cross-arms on the telegraph poles. It is believed that further out the poles are submerged. Before the water came Sunday there was a boat of some kind on nearly every front porch or a raft in the yard. Now the streets are full of boats and rafts carrying household goods and pieces of safety or getting people out of their overflooded homes.

Men who know that the great section of northeast Louisiana is already overflooded and that it is certain to be inundated, say it is impossible at this time to estimate the monetary loss. Thousands of head of cattle, sheep and hogs will perish before the floods cease. Thousands of acres of land, much of it already planted, are ruined.

MEXICAN SITUATION BECOMING CRITICAL

It Is Believed That President's Note Will Have Sobering Effect on Warring Factions Precluding Intervention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., April 15.—The state department's careful note to the warring factions in Mexico warning them against any misadventure have brought the relations between United States and Mexico to the critical point. This is a fair deduction from the past experience and tradition of the state department, notably and recently in the case of Cuba. It is recalled that just such a warning as this preceded the Spanish war, culminating in the famous message of President McKinley, which referred to the "intolerable conditions existing at our doorway."

A Sobering Effect. It is still hoped and believed by administration officials, however, that Saturday's note will have a sobering effect upon the passions of the warring factions and that it will not be necessary for the American government to consider drastic steps in regard to Mexico. This hope led to renewed assurances from official quarters today that there will be no intervention.

The next step must be taken by Mexicans, either through the rebel leader Orozco, or by President Madero, from whom some kind of an answer to the state department's representations surely will be forthcoming.

FLURRY IN WHEAT MARKET CONTINUES Buyers and Sellers Whip-sawed Today Following Series of Conflicting Crop Reports.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, April 15.—Buyers and sellers alike were whip-sawed today in wheat. The market swiftly whirled up, then down and up again, over a range of nearly four cents. Trading reached a magnitude seldom equaled except in war times.

The news which had the greatest influence on the bull side of the wheat market was from a crop expert who had previously been disposed to minimize the effect of supposed winter killing in the soft winter states.

Today he telegraphed from Decatur, Ill., that between there and Mattoon, Ill., virtually all wheat was dead; that the fields were perfectly bare and would have to be planted with oats and corn. On the other hand the bears point out that at Liverpool and elsewhere prices had not risen in any degree since the degree recorded in Chicago and that in accordance to conservative standard it was too early to determine fully the damage to the winter crop.

Under the sway of such radically opposed ideas May wheat spun in an unrelenting fashion over a limit of price bounded by 1.07 1/2 as low and 1.10 1/2 as top.

In less than a single quarter of an hour both those levels were reached, but there was no stability at either nor at any point between. The greater persistency was shown perhaps in the return of the market to the upper place.

GUARD DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION HALL IN CHICAGO TODAY

Exciting Times With Armed Men at the Sessions of Democrats Which Opened in Chicago Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, April 15.—Exciting times marked the opening of the democratic convention which was held today at the seventh regiment armory. Within the armory about one hundred members of the Illinois National guard were gathered throughout the night. Outside a squad of police were drawn and both militiamen and police were backed by court orders. The guardsmen are upheld by a restraining order issued by George M. McKinley last night against the return of County Judge John E. Owen, who appointed Commissioner Frank Czarinski, republican, to organize the convention. The battle for control of the convention is scheduled to defend the cause of Roger Sullivan against the Hearst-Harrison forces.

At noon today County Judge Owen appeared at the armory and demanded that the doors be opened. On being refused he ordered the police to break down the doors. Assistant Chief Schuetzler, with an axe, then began battering down the doors. After the doors had been battered down the Hearst-Harrison delegates who had been waiting outside, filed into the armory. On the orders of their officers the national guardsmen offered no resistance and the delegates proceeded to their seats. With the doors were broken down someone turned in an alarm of fire. Firemen who responded found nothing to do and returned to their headquarters.

FARMER NEAR-BELOIT FOUND DEAD IN BARN Body of Henry Hatch Found by Son With Wrist Severed.—Second Attempt Proves Successful.

The dead body of Henry Hatch, a farmer who lives about four miles outside of Beloit, was found this morning about six o'clock by his son, death having been caused by the severing of an artery in the wrist with a razor which was found lying by his side. It is thought that Mr. Hatch was slightly deranged having tried to kill himself, once before when William Appleby was sheriff there. He attempted to shoot himself with a shotgun but missed his aim.

PARKER PEN OFFICE DAMAGED BY WATER Pipe in Rear End of Third Floor Bursts Under Strain of Fire Pressure.

Severe damage was done to cabinets and the card catalog system of bookkeeping used by the Parker pen company early yesterday morning when a pipe in the rear end of the third floor, occupied by the repair department, burst under the high pressure which was being maintained because of the fire at the Doty mill. No estimate could be given of the damage at the present time. The writing on many of the cards has been made illegible by the water and many of them are so stuck together that they cannot be separated without reaching the same result. The water also penetrated through to the first floor occupied by The Gazette office but no damage was done.

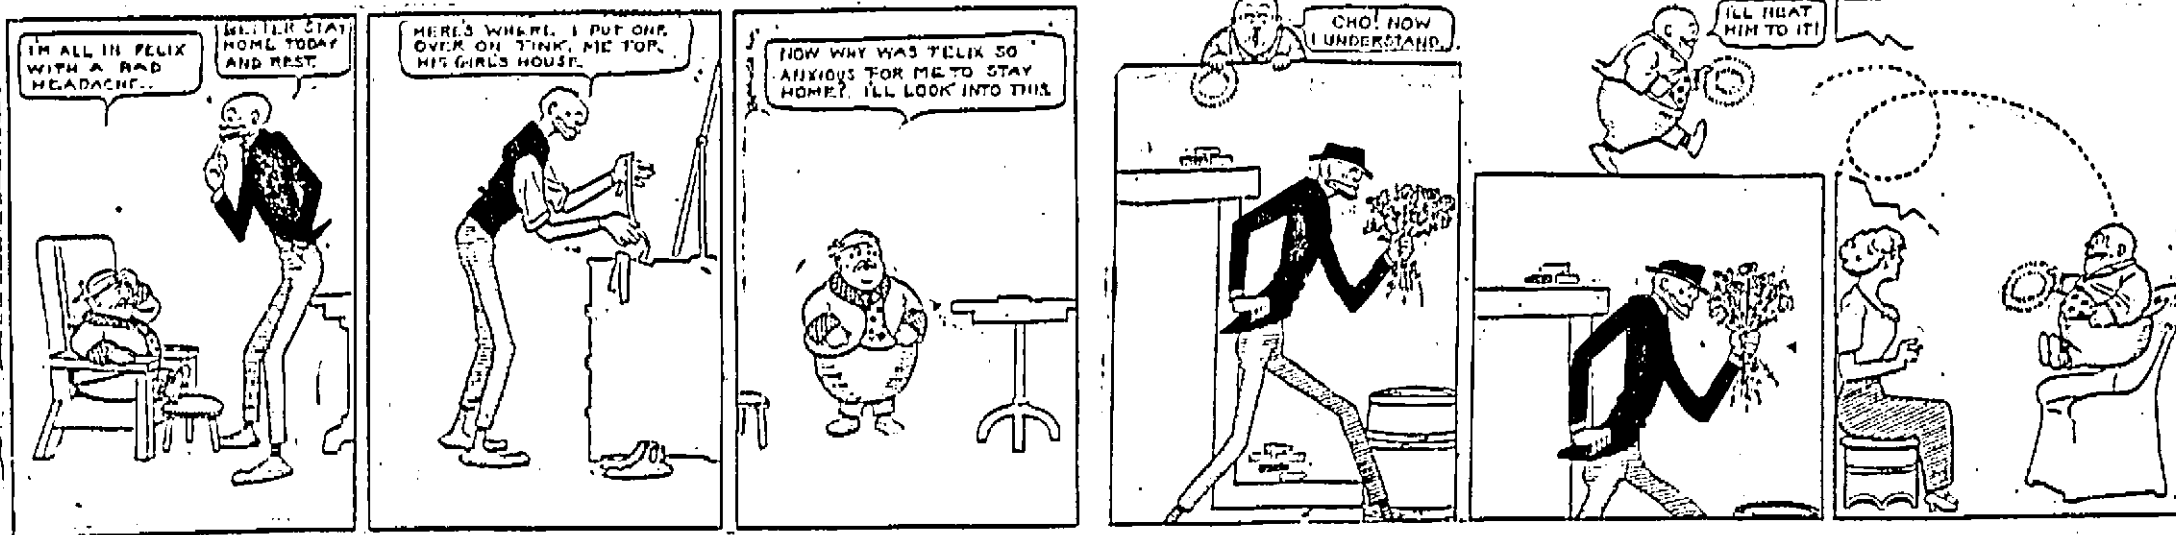

THIEVES PLY-TRADE WHILE MILL BURNS While Fire Occupies Attention of Crowd They Rob Cash Registers of Smith Drug Store.

While the attention of the crowd and of the police was held by the fire at the Doty mill Sunday morning thieves saw an opportunity to ply their trade unmolested and unobstructed and entered two business places on West Milwaukee street. At the Smith drug store they opened the two cash registers and secured $14. They attempted to open a cash drawer but were unable to work the patent cash lock and failed to secure the $13 inside it.

Both of the proprietors were in the store at various times during the fire and it is thought that they left the front door unlocked when they went away as it was found unlocked this morning. The robbery was discovered as soon as it was necessary to make change for a customer.

Snook thieves also secured entrance to the cigar store of Andy Gibson and obtained a quantity of tobacco and cigars. It is believed that the thieves hid in the basement of the building and went to the first floor when the pool room was closed at night. Entrance might also have been forced during the fire.

To Stand Pat.
Madison, Wis., April 15.—The University of Wisconsin will cheerfully acquiesce in the conference board's action disbanding its athletic director from membership. Under the rule adopted, both Director Ehler of Wisconsin and Coach Stagg of Chicago, are ineligible to represent their institutions. Both are starred members of the faculty. This was ostensibly the reason for the board's action.

"The Wisconsin Athletic Bulletin, official organ of the athletic department, says:

"We are not going to be childish enough to threaten to leave the conference unless we have our own way. We believe firmly in the conference and do not want to see it abandoned under any circumstances. We realize that it is practically impossible to get all the universities to agree to one line of action. We appreciate the necessity of compromise and we stand ready to meet the other institutions on any reasonable ground. We are willing to abide by the decision of the majority and will send a member of our faculty who has no connection with the athletic department. And that member of the faculty will, we are sure, stand just as firmly as the Wisconsin representative has always stood, for maintaining the conference and for strict amateur rules of eligibility with liberal interpretations in regard to more technical infractions."

Tonight's Match.

Madison, Wis., April 15.—Much interest centers in the Brule Zanders-Barrett windup match before the Madison Athletic club here tonight. Zanders depends upon the outcome of this scrap to land some important engagements with men of a little higher class than he is now in. Both have posted forfeits for weight and appearance. The rest of the card is as follows: Jack Bennett, Montana, vs. Joe Perente, Milwaukee; Ray Richmond, Madison, vs. Clay Turner, Madison; Harry Stout of Milwaukee, will referee.

At The Theatre

SHAKESPEAREAN PRODUCTIONS.
E. H. Sothern, who appears here with Julia Marlowe in Shakespearean repertoire at Myers Theater, Wednesday evening April 17, in "The Taming of the Shrew," was lately interviewed on the controversy which has waged between Beerbalm Tree and George Bernard Shaw over the propriety of scenic elaborations in Shakespearean productions.

"I might," said Mr. Sothern, "go to one extreme and advocate to the public that I would give a performance of 'Macbeth' on a bare stage and without any other suggestion of scenery save such as might be found printed on placards stuck up about the stage. 'This is a desert place'; 'This is a blasted heath'; 'This is a cavern with a cauldron in the middle'; but such a presentation would be as disturbing to the faculties which Shaw insists should be directed to the lines and the acting as over-elaborate scenery and obtrusive scenic effects would be. I am after the impression. My scenery I wish to be like music, a background to the action and the poetry, never obtrusively evident, but neither obtrusively retiring. To see too much scenery is to waste that much attention which should be devoted to the utterance of the drama. To see too little is to invite misapprehension and to detract from the action of as much attention as is lost in wondering what at elaborate settings. The middle path is right."

Certainly anyone who has been following the presentations of Shakespeare by Sothern and Marlowe can not but have been impressed with the discreet, tasteful and with beautiful background against which the plays

DUTY MILL TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE

BURNED EARLY SUNDAY MORNING WITH LOSS OF TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

BLAZE HELD IN CHECK

Fire Department Keeps It From Spreading by Seven Well Directed Streams—Engine Used.

Fire started by lightning early yesterday morning totally destroyed the D. P. Duty mill and feed mill at the foot of Dodge street, together with the grain and feed it contained, causing a loss estimated at twenty-five thousand dollars. Well directed work by the fire department, together with favorable weather, prevented it from spreading to the adjoining buildings, which were seriously endangered by the close proximity and great heat of the blaze.

The fire was discovered at about 2:45 by an employee of the Recorder office. The odor of smoke was detected in the composing room and after a fruitless search for its origin within the building, one of the men stepped outside and noticed smoke coming from the foot of Dodge street. He ascertained that the fire was in the Duty mill and then turned in an alarm at box 18 at the West Side fire station.

Departments Arrive. The departments from all three stations and the fire police responded promptly. Chief Klein, as soon as he discovered the seriousness of the blaze returned to the West Side station, commanded the danger signal of the hose and the fire engine. The pumping station to give one hundred pounds pressure. In the meanwhile two lines of hose were laid from the corner of River and Dodge street and streams played on the fire. Another was laid from the hydrant at the corner of River street and the postoffice alley, and two more from the corner of Milwaukee and River streets.

Plan of Attack. In order to protect the Milwaukee street property from a possible spread of the flames and throw water on the fire from the north side, a line of hose was run from the hydrant in front of the Kimball furniture store through the Golden Eagle store, and another from the hydrant near the Hayes block through the second story of the Sutherland block. Five streams were from 1½ inch nozzles, and two through two inch nozzles, throwing nearly two thousand gallons a minute. The aerial truck was raised near the Solar and one of the firemen directed a very effective stream upon the fire from its top. The truck was moved closer to the fire as it was subdued until the stream reached the east side of the building where the flames burned the fiercest.

After all danger of the fire spreading to the Milwaukee street building was past, the two streams from the Golden Eagle store and the Sutherland block were discontinued and attached to the hydrant near the Frank Douglas hardware store and the blaze attacked from that quarter.

Engine Brought Out. As soon as the men and horses could be spared Chief Klein had the fire engine brought out and "spotted" it on the Milwaukee street bridge where it would be ready for use if needed. Later it was taken to the foot of Dodge street and steamed up from four to 1:30 o'clock. It threw 300 gallons of water through a three-quarter inch nozzle upon the stubbornly burning ruins. Some of the lines were disconnected from the waterworks after the engine got under way.

Building Doomed. From the time the fire was discovered the building was practically doomed as it was a frame structure dry as tinder from age, the corrugated iron siding offering no protection from the fire within. All that could be done was to prevent it from spreading to adjoining buildings. This the department was well prepared to do as its lines of hose were so laid that they could easily be moved to the quarter threatened. Showers of red-hot embers were carried aloft by the tremendous heat of the fire and blown upon the roofs of buildings for a block around, but the rain which had just fallen afforded them adequate protection. Owners and tenants of buildings near the fire, alarmed for their security, opened and lighted their stores, and stood prepared to move valuable goods and papers if necessary.

Good Work by Firemen. All who saw the fire were enthusiastic in their commendation of the work of the firemen. Every man was "on the job," every stream was directed where it would do the best work, and Chief Klein was at all times in complete control of the situation. In appreciation of the firemen's services, Mr. N. L. Carlo served them with a lunch of hot coffee and sandwiches.

Horses Saved. Three horses belonging to Mr. Doty and housed in the frame tenets on the north side of the mill were saved by Policeman Thomas Morrissey and fireman John Murphy. Policeman Morrissey found it locked but with a few blows of a sash iron secured from the shed in the rear of the Douglas hardware store was able to smash the padlock and open the door. Assisted by fireman Murphy he groped his way behind the piles of hay and straw and until the horses which were led out of danger by others who volunteered assistance. The horses made no resistance and were taken out just before the shed caught fire. Few know that any horses were there and the animals owe their lives to Policeman Morrissey's watchfulness.

Fire Losses. The total fire loss is estimated at $25,000 of this amount over $15,000 will fall on Mr. Doty, his loss on stock and machinery. The loss on the mill property, owned by the Janesville Realty Company, is $10,000. Mr. Doty carried $5,000 insurance on his stock and the Janesville Realty Company $14,000 on the building. The mill contained about ten thousand bushels of grain, according to miller Wilkerson.

Of this approximately 3000 bushels was in rye, a similar amount in wheat 1000 bushels in shelled corn, 500 in barley. Besides this there was on hand a small quantity of oats, three carloads of bran and middling, from three to five tons of Graham and rye flour. The bins of wheat and shelled corn were located on the river side of the mill and practically all of it fell into the river or was washed away by the powerful streams of water played upon it. There will be but little salvage. A considerable amount of rye, hay and ground feed still remains and is salable.

Old Structure. The Duty mill was one of the oldest business buildings in the city, having been built in 1854. Its timbers were of hand-hewn oak and remarkably well preserved. Twenty-five years ago it stood on Milwaukee street where the Pond & Bailey store now stands. Its machinery was operated by water-wheels supplied from a race way from the upper dam, long since abandoned. It continued to receive power from this race-way for some time after the mill moved but afterwards electrical power was installed and has been in use for many years.

Insurance Amounts. The insurance and the different companies in which it is carried by the two owners are as follows:

Lawrence, who is supposed to have fallen off the Fourth avenue bridge Friday evening, has been discovered and meanwhile his family are left in straitened circumstances. The anxiety over her husband's loss has almost completely unnerved the plucky little wife and friends are doing what they can to alleviate their immediate needs. L. L. McNamara, who has made a careful investigation of the case reports that money would be most acceptable at once. He has started a list and will handle the money to the best advantage of Mrs. Lawrence and her little family. The Gazette has offered its services in collecting money to be added to the fund and turn all money left at the office over to Mr. McNamara who will handle the funds. The case is one that deserves aid and it is needed immediately. Mr. Lawrence had a little over seven hundred dollar life insurance which of course is not available until his body is found, meanwhile the money that is donated can be used to advantage. It is hoped that the subscription will be most liberal.

A NOTED AUSTRALIAN VISITS JANESVILLE

Came Here to Inspect the Bottling Plant of the Hlawatha Water Company.

Mr. George Marchant, one of the most prominent residents of Australia who is visiting in this country and owner of four of the largest bottling plants on his continent was the guest of Mr. Louis M. Park today, coming here from Chicago to inspect the new bottling plant of the Hlawatha Water Company. Mr. Marchant is noted as a lecturer and has delivered several addresses in Chicago and the east on his present visit to the States. He owns extensive bottling plants at Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide. The Hlawatha Water Company is almost ready to begin the shipment of its product. The big barge which will be used to convey the packed goods to the city, which is forty-five by sixteen feet wide has been finished and will be towed up and down the river by a tugboat. It is expected that a dock will be established on lots located on Cassin island and a spur track run to it so that the loading into the cars will be direct.

GEORGE J. KELLOGG FIVES ADVICE TO THE GARDENER.

Don't let the garden ground get dry and hard, plow or spade it up and drag or rake it down this even if you don't want to plant it till May. Conserve the moisture, keep the surface raked fine, and rake your beds of peas, potatoes and in fact everything before the plants get up and again after they are up, it saves lots of hoeing.

To up the grapes before the buds start, they will stand more frost to be up and moved to the cold nights. If any have neglected to prune their grapes, don't do it now, wait till the leaf is half grown, then they won't bleed. If pruning has been neglected in March, better wait now till the middle of June.

Don't uncover the strawberry bed if the mulch is so heavy the plants can't get through, open it up a little, but keep the mulch for clean berries and protection in drought. Go to the nursery for your trees and get them at a fair price without paying for the other fellow's livery bill.

Truly,
GEO. J. KELLOGG.

COUNCIL ADJOURNS SINE DIE TONIGHT

Aldermen to Meet as Such For Last Time—Commission Form inaugurated Tomorrow.

"Ring out the old, ring in the new." This popular refrain may not be sung by the Common Council tonight but it would be appropriate to the occasion for this evening. It means for the last time, and tomorrow the new mayor and councilmen will take the reins of the city government, inaugurating commission rule.

As to the action which will be taken at tonight's meeting many conjectures are rife, but the matters which are known to come before them for consideration are few and of a routine character, such as the usual number of bills and reports of committees.

James A. Fathers officially becomes Mayor, and Roy M. Cummings and Chancey K. Milmore, councilmen, at twelve o'clock tonight but it is not anticipated that they will sit up and await the auspicious hour. They will meet to organize at two o'clock tomorrow and at that time the Councilmen will probably draw the lots which will decide to whom will fall the short, and when the long term.

By the end of the week it is expected that all appointments to subordinate offices will have been made. A large number have signified their willingness to serve the city in various capacities.

Because of the great number of duties to be performed the first week it is probable that Mayor Fathers and Councilmen Cummings and Milmore will not be able to make their trip of inspection to Cedar Rapids until later. It has been agreed that the meetings of the Mayor and Councilmen will be held in the daytime instead of at night as has been the rule. Regular meetings for the allowance of bills and important business will be held at the usual intervals, but adjourned meetings will be held frequently.

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette. The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end. There are many number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience. But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will do it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

Another item in the fruit market which shows the advance of the year and the approach of spring is the disappearance of the large size grapefruit and oranges. HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Some Helps for the Inexperienced Housecleaner.

THE mistress of a home who confronts the housecleaning problem for the first time is often puzzled as to what to do to clean certain things. Especially is this true today, when girls are not brought up to understand the management of a home as they were fifty years ago. Many a girl today takes up housekeeping without having the slightest preparation, and when the serious problems of her work confront her, she has no idea whatever of what to do. A few suggestions therefore may prove helpful.

One of the first things to need touching up a little is the furniture. What to do of course depends upon its condition. If the dining table is very much marked up with hot dishes, nothing can be done for it except to have it completely done over by regular furniture people. But if it is only slightly marked, a good rubbing with a reliable furniture polish, or even with crude oil, will help. One housekeeper finds that by rubbing with a soft cloth saturated with benzine, wonders can be accomplished in removing unsightly white spots. If the furniture looks dull or is scratched, wiping with linseed oil and turpentine in its equal parts will restore it. Rub with a soft rag and then wipe off thoroughly with a clean rag.

Furniture can be cleaned by washing with cold water, soap, if it is available, and wiping dry with a soft cloth. Wipe only one way, and do not use a dry cloth on varnished furniture.

If the furniture is very shabby, it may be best to revarnish it. Before beginning to varnish remove all blemishes with sandpaper or pumice stone.

Another task that confronts the housecleaner is the cleaning of wall-paper. This can be done with stale bread. Cut a loaf in half and very lightly rub it over the soiled places. As the bread becomes soiled, cut it off in slices. Clean only a small place at a time, and always rub in one direction.

Another good way to clean wall-paper is to mix pipe-clay with water until it is about the consistency of ordinary cream. Lay this very thin paste on the wall-paper where it is soiled, and leave it on over night to dry. In the morning remove it with a rather stiff brush. A poultice may be used, but great care must be taken not to injure the paper.

How to clean marble that has become stained or discolored is a problem that many a housekeeper finds it hard to solve. A woman who has solved it to her satisfaction says mix two parts of common washing soda with one part of chalk and one of ground pumice stone. All should be finely powdered and mixed into a paste with water. Rub it well over the marble and leave on for a few hours, then wash off with soap and water.

Another recipe for the same work is to dissolve a quarter pound of concentrated lye in a pint of cold water and add enough of Fuller's earth and whiting to make a thick paste. Spread this over the marble and let remain a few days. Then brush off.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

Well, the feminine sex, quite frequently hear complaints of that sort on the part of offended gentlemen who feel that they have not received due payment in gratitude for their courtesy, and I, at least, always feel very sorry that any woman should have been so ungracious. But there is another side to this matter. Since men are such selfish creatures for courtesy, I am sure they will agree with me in condemning the man who does a kindly act in such an ungracious manner that he robs it of all its grace and courtesy.

To what do I refer? I refer to the man who gives up his seat on the trolley car, but gives it up with such evident reluctance and resentment that he makes the woman, who accepts his ungracious offering rather than make herself conspicuous by refusing, feel uncomfortable and unhappy instead of complimented and protected.

Just yesterday I witnessed a striking example of this kind of ungraciousness. The man was a good looking, well dressed young person, apparently sufficiently educated to warrant better manners than he showed. He was sitting down in a trolley car. In front of him a plain little woman of about forty or forty-five was standing. He let her stand for a few minutes; finally he slouched to his feet, saying crossly to an acquaintance who was already standing, "Guess I might as well stand up." After a moment the woman took his seat. She did not thank him. How could she? He had not taken any notice of her, nor in any way suggested that his act was in deference to her.

Now, to have lifted his hat and said pleasantly, "Won't you have my seat, madame?" would not have cost that man any great effort. It would not have made the reception of the seat a hundred times pleasanter to the little woman. She would have felt protected and complimented, and would doubtless have remembered and been pleased at the little act of chivalry long afterwards.

"Is it not enough," someone says, "to give up one's seat without putting on a lot of frills?"

No, my friend, it is not. A gracious act done in an ungracious manner is never complete, never enough.

The world needs love as well as service.

A single act done willingly and graciously out of the heart's goodwill is worth more than a dozen done unthinkingly, and only because convention or some other force extorts them from the doer.

The woman who does not say "Thank you," when a man gives up his seat to her certainly has reason to be ashamed of herself, but no more reason than the man who gives up his seat only because convention or fear of opinion forces him to, and acts like a bear when he does it.

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What can be done with linen and muslin which have turned yellow? (2) What can be done to prevent clothes from turning this color? I have a chest of clothes which will have to be stored two years, and would like some advice from you as to the care of them.

(1) Wash and boil with ivory soap and bleach in the sun. You might add a little ammonia to the water in which you wash them if they are badly yellowed, taking care not to use enough to harm the clothes. (2) Before putting them away rinse them in boiling water just strong enough to color them light blue. Do not starch them, for the starch is apt to rot them.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty years of age and suffer very much. What causes this, and how can I overcome it? Sometimes I am hurt very much by people's fun at my expense.

A CONSTANT READER.

Stammering is a nervous affection aggravated by self-consciousness. Mild cases can sometimes be overcome by self-control, but this is probably never true of more severe cases. There are schools for stammering, and if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope, I will give you the address of a good one.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will oil how white kid gloves be in style this summer? (2) Will tan slippers be in style? (3) I am thirteen years old, 5 feet tall and weight 101 pounds. Am I of an average size? D. J. S.

(1) White silk gloves are always in better taste for summer than white kid. (2) Tan pumps or oxfords will be worn a great deal, but slippers are never used much except for house or evening wear. (3) Your height and weight are just about right for your age.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) How can I prevent my hair from growing above the brow and temples? (2) What can I do to make my arms and neck plump? E. L. W.

(1) Use the solution of ammonia and hydrogen peroxide described in this department three or four days ago. (2) Keep in good health by eating nourishing foods and by getting plenty of fresh air and exercise.

Massage the neck and take special exercise of the arms.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What are the meanings of the following names: Elizabeth, Anna, Francis, Joseph and Raymond? A. B. C.

Elizabeth means "God is her oath." Anna, heroine; Francis, free; Joseph, addition; Raymond, who protection.

PLEASANT comes through toll and not by self-indulgence and indulgence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one. —Ruskin.

FOOD FOR THE INVALID.

The problem in the home where there is a sick one is the serving of food that is well prepared and palatable. To enter to a fickle, unreasoning appetite is not the pleasant mission in life, but one which must be accepted and worked out with study and patience.

Milk Shake.—Put a cup of milk in a glass jar, sweeten to taste and flavor with fruit or vanilla. Pack in ice until very cold, then shake until it froths well on top.

Hot Lemonade.—Make a lemon in the oven until very hot, remove and cut out the pulp with a spoon; sweeten and add a cup of hot water. Strain and serve.

Hot Water added to the juice of one lemon and two tablespoonfuls of sugar (to a pint of water), served boiling hot, is another manner of preparing lemonade.

Egg Nog.—Separate the yolk from the white of an egg, beat the yolk until thick. Add to three tablespoonfuls of milk or cream. Stir in the beaten white and flavor to taste with lemon juice, nutmeg or vanilla. Sweeten with a tablespoonful of sugar.

Toast Water.—Make dry toast, break into small pieces, put into a bowl and cover with water. Cover the bowl with a plate and let it stand a few minutes. Drain the water off and serve hot or cold.

Custards and soft cooked eggs are dishes easy of digestion, and as custards may be varied by different flavors one may have a different kind often served.

Flaxseed Water.—Pour a pint of boiling water over a tablespoonful of flaxseed, and let it steep two or three hours. Strain, flavor with lemon juice and serve.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING

Tables are Laid in Different Manner for Every Meal.

(By Alice E. Whitaker.)

One who knows anything about present housekeeping customs will not keep the dining table set all the time. An occasional exception may be the woman who must save steps and finds that she can do so by re-setting the table immediately after washing the dishes.

The reasons for not laying the table, except at meal time, are various; an important one is the uncleanliness of exposing dishes to dust during the hours between their use. In the exceptional case where the dining room is shut off by itself there would be little dust except when cleaning.

The day of the closed dining room is long past for this room is as much in evidence as the reception room and often more expense is given to furnishing it than any other.

In the present fashion of house building the dining room is open to inspection all the time unless, when a meal is being served, draperies may be drawn or double doors closed if more privacy is desired.

Some of the latest built houses have French doors between dining room and reception room which can be closed when needed without shutting out light or making rooms appear cramped.

Another reason for not keeping the table set is the custom of using different furnishings at the three meals. For breakfast the small cloth is generally preferred and it barely covers the top, if it square and laid on a round table, the corners just fall over the edge.

For luncheon either these small cloths, or a set of dollies of various sizes, are used while for dinner the large cloth over the alcove cloth is the prevailing rule. Between meals a large centerpiece or mat is used and this need not always be white for many of the natural and colored linens, stenciled and edged with coarse lace, are much more effective.

A square of colored linen to match prevailing tones of the room and finished with deep hem headed with feather stitching is always in good taste. It is best to have by those imitations of twenty dollar drawn work which are offered for twenty five cents. Flax crochet insets are the

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

The general trend of events affecting woman suffrage which characterized the closing week of March and the first week in April, was less favorable to the cause than during any similar period of this year. All hope of accomplishing anything definite this year in the New York legislature has been abandoned. And notwithstanding the apparent fact that the action of the assembly demonstrated a marked increase in public sentiment favorable to equal suffrage, it is evident that the failure of the proposed constitutional amendment was a decided disappointment to the suffragists, and naturally so since early in the session there seemed to be every reason to believe that the amendment would succeed.

Massachusetts the situation is much the same. Next to New York, Massachusetts stands as a pioneer state in the cause of equal suffrage in point of definite and effective organization which was perfected there in connection with the anti-slavery agitation. The state has contributed many effective workers to the cause, both men and women, who have attained a national reputation as such and many able opponents may also be accredited to that state. This year the suffragists professed to believe that they would achieve success. And, as was the case in New York, they made a showing of substantial gain. But in the lower house of the legislature on the 3d inst., on a proposal for which a two-thirds vote was necessary only ninety-six members including pairs, were recorded in favor of one hundred and sixteen in opposition. The anti-suffragists claim that this showing, which is more favorable to woman suffrage than any that has been recorded previously, is solely due to the fact that the present Governor of the state is favorable to the proposed equal suffrage legislation. Apprehension is indicated in some quarters that the adverse result in Massachusetts will have an injurious effect on the situation in New Hampshire where the suffragists are making a determined fight this year.

With the exception of Ohio, Pennsylvania is more alive to the equal suffrage question than any other of the far Eastern states just now. There are very marked indications that it will be the next state to vote on the question of extending the franchise to women, and that too in the near future. One of the latest additions to the means of effective warfare in the women of that state have acquired, is a paper devoted exclusively to the suffrage cause, and primarily to the work in Pennsylvania. It is known as the "Pennsylvania Suffrage News" published in Philadelphia weekly, and made its initial appearance as a regular publication last week.

In the city of Chicago the suffragists made a decisive defeat on April 8th. The vote on the question was taken in connection with the regular primary, and was simply an expression of opinion by the voter as to whether he was or was not favorable to interest and quite within the reach of the economical woman if she can use a crochet needle.

The use of the small cloth or of dollies make it compulsory to keep the table top in good order. A set of dollies for luncheon includes a large centerpiece, six to twelve dollies nine inches square or in diameter if round; the same number of six-inch size for cups and saucers, finger bowl or bread and butter plate and also of the four inch size for glasses.

Nothing is really more satisfactory than wide hemstitched linens for the square dollies and saucers for the round style without further decoration unless it may be the monogram on one side of the centerpiece.

The following marmalade is recommended to those who like this kind of sweets. The amount given is small and if it pleases it is not any weight to double it next time. Press the juice from two oranges, cut the peel in several pieces and simmer it in water until tender; drain and scrape out the white part with the bowl of a spoon then cut the yellow part into shreds with scissors.

Put two pounds of rhubarb, cut in half inch pieces, into a preserving kettle, heat slowly to the boiling point and cook fifteen minutes. Add the orange juice and the shredded peel, the juice of half a lemon, one pound of seeded raisins and cook until thick. This marmalade can be eaten fresh but it will keep indefinitely sealed in pint jars.

Clean floors and doors with

GOLD DUST

Add a little Gold Dust to your scrubbing water, and you can clean your floors, doors and woodwork in a jiffy. Gold Dust is such a superior cleanser that it does the hardest part of the work, and requires little scrubbing. It does the work; you simply aid it.

Gold Dust will do the work better than soap or any other cleanser, making your woodwork look like new.

For cleaning anything and everything about the house nothing is so quickly effective as Gold Dust. It's the cleansing marvel of the age!

Gold Dust is sold in 6c and 12c packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work!"

It was in no sense final and had no further object than to determine the attitude of the voter toward the equal suffrage question. More than two hundred thousand votes were recorded on the question, and of that number about 155,000 expressed themselves as being unfavorable to extending the franchise to women. In view of the fact that the total vote in the primary in the city of Chicago approximated 345,000 for the national, state and local tickets, and the further fact that voters were permitted to record their opinion on the equal suffrage proposition without voting for any candidates for office of expressing any political preference, it is apparent that practically one-half of those (345,000) voting the political tickets ignored the woman suffrage proposition altogether.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

MONODIET HELPS RESISTANCE TO DISEASE.

An important confirmation of the principle of the monodiet (one food at a meal, or two or three that harmonize) which has been shown in these hints to have an important influence in resistance to disease, in endurance, physical and mental, and in the prevention of cancer, is found in the results of experiments made by Dr. Reid Hunt, of the United States Hygienic Laboratory. The resistance of mice fed on oatmeal was found to be much greater to certain poisons than of those fed on eggs, crackers and milk. The same was found to be true of rats, and it is probable that similar results would be obtained with human beings. Professor Ehrlich has found that mice inoculated with cancer recovered more readily when fed on rice than when given a mixed diet.

very favorable to the suffragists. In Kansas last week a systematic organization was begun for the summer campaign much on the same lines as that held out in Ohio and the news coming from the state in general is very favorable to the cause and indicates success for the suffragists in the election this fall.

The lower house of the Arizona legislature went on record the 8th instant as decidedly favorable to equal suffrage by a vote of 21 to 4, the House passed a bill granting the full right of suffrage to women. The bill was passed with but little debate, and was immediately sent to the senate where it seems certain to meet with favorable action at an early date. This together with the fact that there seems to be no doubt that the proposition will easily win in both Oregon and Nevada does much toward compensating the suffragists for the partial reverses they have recently sustained in the East.

Record Senatorial Career.
Thomas H. Benton's 30 years of continuous service in the United States senate, which ended March 3, 1881, held the record in that respect until Justin S. Morrill of Vermont entered upon his thirty-first year on March 4, 1897. Morrill served 32½ years continuously. John Sherman served 32 years, broken by four years in Hayes' cabinet. Allison of Iowa served 35 years, which is now the record for continuous service in the senate.

Strong Tastes and Palates.
Fifteenth century Englishmen seldom used either milk or butter. They used great quantities of spices, however, in their food, and, apparently, did not care for the more delicate flavors that suit modern palates. It is pointed out by a writer that storage eggs and "renovated" butter would have had a ready market with them.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorder

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" It is known that 90 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Small Ordinances are a positive, pleasant, and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Wake Up With a "Dark Brown Taste?"

Get Rid of It! Run for OLIVE TABLETS

There isn't the slightest need to wake up any morning with a "brown mouth." Ugh! No need to describe it! Dr. Edwards has made "brown mouth" a thing of the past in thousands of homes with his little Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Anyone who takes Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the moment he suspects his liver and bowels, never has a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a plumpy face, constipation or any other form of bowel or liver disorder.

Take one just the moment you suspect you are constipated or that your liver is out of order. Thousands take one at bedtime every night just to keep the bowels regular, the liver in order, the mouth clean and the breath pure and sweet. Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent 17 years in practice and in laboratory experiments before he perfected Olive Tablets.

Why don't you try them instead of the severe kind of laxatives that grip and only effect temporary relief?

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

The DIAMOND CIPHER

A Baseball Romance
By W. A. PHELON

(Copyright, 1912, by W. A. PHELON. "Comment on Current and Great Events.")
"What we had hoped off at Philadelphia," sighed Brockett. "In a city of this size we might have made a better escape, and I happen to know the streets of the burg pretty well. We'll have to make the best of it now, though. The moment we hit the road we'll run so fast we'll discover several new streets in Jersey City."

Solano was silent for a few minutes, and then his features lighted up. "Do you happen to have an Eastern league schedule about you?" he demanded.

"Think I have. Got one with schedules of twenty leagues in it—this notebook. What's the idea?"

"Is Jersey City playing at home today?"

"Yes—playing Newark. Some fun there. That's old Iron Man McGinnity's team."

"Good stuff. Well, how's this for a supplement to our first idea, then; go right out to the ball park, buy bleachers or seats, and mix in with the crowd. It's hard, awfully hard, to locate anybody in a ball park, and the task would be twice as hard for some foreigner, who wouldn't even know how to find his way around the stands. We waited to kill time in Jersey City till evening—where could we kill it more pleasantly or more safely?"

"Some of your ideas, dear Ramon, denote almost human intelligence. It means good to me. But, say—we are just rolling into Jersey City now. Wait a bit—she'll slacken a little—NOW!" The boys sprang from their chairs and bolted down the aisle. An astonished negro tried to intercept them with a cry of "Hold on boss—we ain't to station yet!" but only received a shoulder and an elbow as reward. Solano unhesitatingly leaped, struck on a gravelly spot, went to his knees, and then shot forward on his palms. Brockett swung off a shade more carefully, landed fairly on his feet, and, after staggering a dozen yards, regained his balance.

"Any bones broken, Ramon?"

"Nothing but a suspender and my pet pipe. Little gravel in my knees and hands. I'll bet they think we are a pair of escaped crooks, but they can't back up the train. Hurry—let's get a vigorous move on!"

Twenty minutes later the messengers of state were buried in a mass of howling fans at the Jersey City ball park, where ancient rivalries with the Newark team were being settled. They picked a position halfway from the front of the bleachers, and the swarm of fanatics all around them formed a veil that would have baffled a Vidocq and an X-ray to pierce through. Here, safe from pursuit or treachery, they gave themselves up to their favorite delight, and enjoyed the battle to their hearts' content. Both, of course, were absolutely non-partisan when they entered the park—the troubles of Newark and Jersey City were nothing to them. Before the game was half an inning old, however, they had become rabid "bugs," and were abusing each other in the gloriolous fashion that only lovers of the game can know. Solano became an ardent admirer of the Jersey City club; Brockett allied himself with Newark, and each cast virulent aspersions on the other's judgment, opinions and personality.

Newark, to the intense delight of Hurry Brockett, drew ahead and won out, while Solano, after declaring that his friend was a base-born idiot, that the umpires were a porch-climber and a door-mat thief, respectively, and that the Jersey City manager was solid stone above the shoulders, calmed down, smote a fat man two rows ahead of him with a bag of peanuts, and looked innocently at the setting western sun. Then the boys, vastly refreshed and cheered by the afternoon's diversion, mingled with the outgoing myriads. As they poured across the field in the ruck, they crossed the track of the Newark players, bearing their bats triumphantly away. A gray-sleeved arm reached out from the group of victors and caught Brockett by the shoulder. The ward, slipped their coils upon the

"I've something with me that I didn't have when we went on the ferry," spoke Brockett in an undertone, continuing to pace along.

"What's that?" An enlightened intellect? The Cuban bantled, Brockett drew out the envelope, noted that it was innocent of address or mark of any kind, and returned it to his pocket.

"Subway train might be a good place to look at that, whatever it is," said Ramon, and they walked sturdily across town till the clocks of a subway station met their view. As they descended the stairs the clangor of an approaching train was heard. Picking up a burst of speed they scurried forward, slipped their coils upon the locked window, and leaped upon a car without the fraction of a second to spare. Once seated and their breath recovered, they bent over the strangely delivered letter. Inside the envelope was one small sheet of note-paper, and across the sheet was written, in Brockett's own cipher:

"WP TC Pm Pm W SH AN SH 2HI HL E E HL E 2HI HL SH PO PO TC TC BA SH TC W BA SH PO PO WP."

"Which reads," translated Brockett, "You are beginning well—look out for Kelly."

CHAPTER IX.

"Outside the gentleman mentioned in the song, and a number of good ball-players," said Solano, "I never heard of any Kellys. There appears to be something doing, Harry."

"That is evident at first sight," responded Brockett. "It looks as if both our friends and our enemies were hanging to our track. As far as tracing us is concerned, I'd have thought it rather harder for our friends to keep close watch over us than either the Japanese or the big German."

"I can figure out," commented Solano, "just how sheer luck would help anyone to locate us in Jersey City. Anybody who knew our tastes and proclivities would most naturally take a chance of finding us at the ball park, and the Iron Man's call of your name might just happen to reach the ears of whatever person was trying to keep in touch."

"I don't wish Jon McGinnity any harm," growled Brockett, "but I won't concede if his club gets shut out twenty-nine straight games and winds up in eighth position. What business has he got with such a memory? Hell, that's all over now. This Kelly proposition is what's worrying little Harry."

"Possibly," suggested the Cuban, "the chief isn't taking such long chances as we, imagined, especially when it's a case of entrusting important messages to a couple of boys. His arm is long, his eye is pretty nearly everywhere, and he has the best operative of both the big detective agencies at his call. In all probability, he has men detailed to watch out for us, and see that we don't run our heads into any special danger. That would account for the Kelly warning and the use of your own cipher."

"That seems the only logical explanation," admitted Brockett. "It's some comfort, then, to know that we are under powerful protection, but it makes me feel rather small just the same."

"Plenty of time yet," philosophized the Latin. "We will have all the adventures on our own hook, and without any protection, that are coming to us. Wait and see."

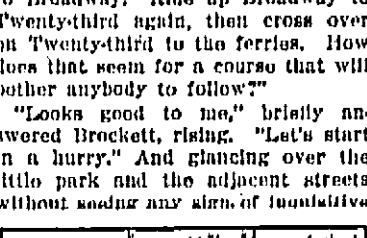

The boys left the subway two stations further on, doubled up a short, slanting street, turned into another, running at almost a V-shaped angle, and landed in a tiny triangle of vacant ground, with an old hotel to the south, a row of worn and shabby stone houses to the north, and the bright lights of Broadway only a short walk to the east. Taking possession of a bench in the little park, they proceeded to hold a council of war, confident that, even in the gathering night no spy could approach them close enough to cause annoyance.

"I believed, when we started," said Brockett, "that we could wander around New York till some time tomorrow night, and make so many turnings that no one without a flock of bloodhounds could ever find us. I think differently now, though—I can hardly say why. For my part, I think we should lose ourselves in the mazes of this burg for a few hours only, then retrace to Jersey and be on our way by a midnight train. How about it, Ramon?"

"Fully agreeable," replied the Cuban. "In fact, I was just planning out a route that won't consume much time, but ought to tangle-foot anyone who is exhibiting a loving interest in us. How is this: Walk to Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. Take the 'L' road to Forty-second. Trot over to the Grand Central station of the subway, on Forty-second, and ride to the downtown district, getting off, we will say, at Canal. Walk over to the Bowery, mix in with the crowd, turn into Mott or Bayard street—in Chinatown—and travel fast to the little park at Mulberry Bend. Cut through the park, and keep on west to Broadway. Ride up Broadway to Twenty-third again, then cross over on Twenty-third to the ferries. How does that seem for a course that will bother anybody to follow?"

"Looks good to me," briefly answered Brockett, rising. "Let's start in a hurry." And glancing over the little park and the adjacent streets without seeing any sign of investigation followers, the boys struck out on their devious journey. They reached Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue in a few minutes, seated themselves on the bench beside the uptown tracks, and allowed two trains to pass without making a move to board either one. A third train rolled up; the youngsters waited till the gate was shutting, and then dove through with a headlong plunge, earning the execrations of the guard.

"Seems to me," laughed Brockett as they gazed at the glittering panorama of New York, spread below them, "that anyone who might have been trailing us this time had to come over a locked gate or lose out. That was the quickest move we've made yet."

TODAY'S RIDDLE

What is always pointed and with one to business

(ANSWER)

MERIT IN MEDICINE.

The continued success of a medicine depends entirely upon its merit. For nearly forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been demonstrating its worth among women, as the greatest of all remedies for female ills, and the tremendous volume of letters on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from grateful women in all parts of the United States and Canada, are ample proof of its merit.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a good, old-fashioned remedy and enormous quantities of roots and herbs are used every year in making it the standard remedy for female ills.

There is one piece of ground on Frank Mann's farm, near Gilman, Ill., that for seven years produced an average of 5 tons of alfalfa per acre. The next year it produced 20 tons of silage per acre, the next 115 bushels of corn, then 88½ bushels of oats, and last year 52½ bushels of wheat. The average gross return each year for these eleven years was more than $80 per acre. Making a most liberal allowance for all the labor and other expense of growing the crops, there is still enough net profit to pay 6 per cent interest on a valuation of $1,000 per acre. Land is worth as much money as the crops will pay interest on.

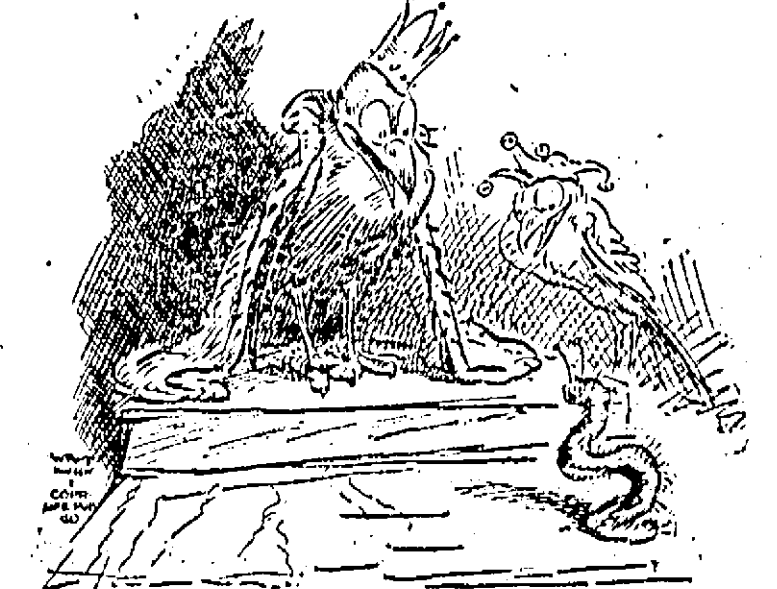

You Can Farm Like Frank Mann

You can make your farm worth $1,000 an acre by raising crops like Frank Mann's. FRANK MANN'S SOIL BOOK will tell you how. This book contains the meat of the practical experience of a man who has made good. It puts forward no unproven theories. Every point that the author makes is proved by facts from his own farm. It is a book of practical experience that any Middle Western farmer can follow on his own farm, and double his profits while he is doing it.

Nervous, Debilitated and Run-Down

Either the Rest Cure or Tona Vita Will Build You Up Again.

If you are nervous, debilitated, and run-down in health, there are two things you can do to bring back your strength and vitality. You can go to a sanitarium and take the rest cure or you can secure the great modern tonic "Tona Vita" and let it build you up and furnish new nourishment for your shattered nerves.

If you know what wonderful results have been accomplished by "Tona Vita" since physicians first introduced it in this country you would much rather take this tonic than to go to any sanitarium on earth. Here is a statement from Mr. J. H. House, of 381 Twenty-third Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., who has tried "Tona Vita." "I was all run down, intensely nervous and suffered with the most violent headaches. I felt tired and dull all day, my body seemed benumbed at times, and I did not sleep well. My digestion was imperfect and I was continually constipated. As soon as I ate anything my stomach filled with gas and I was distressed for a half hour or more. My mind was dull and my memory very poor. I contracted a cold easily and suffered with severe coughs. Sometime ago I talked with a physician who advised me to take "Tona Vita." I did it—and am glad I did for the medicine was wonderful in my case. I feel as though I had a new lease on life. My ambition has returned as well as my strength and energy."

"I now sleep well and get up in the morning feeling cheerful and ready for work."

"My wife was 'also' run down and nervous. She started taking the medicine when it began to help me. Her improvement has been fine and she is now in good health."

If you are run down and haven't enough strength it is your own fault if you feel miserable a day longer, when you can get such a preparation as "Tona Vita."

Smith Drug Co. is agent for Tona Vita in Janesville and will refund the purchase price if it is not entirely satisfactory. The Approved Formula Co., Dayton, O.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, April 15, 1872.—John Williams has received a letter from the managers of the oratorio of "Easter," which is to be given in Milwaukee during the first week in May, urging him to take the part of king. Milwaukee cannot do better than to secure Williams.

The ladies of the Congregational society have resumed their pleasant semi-monthly entertainments, giving, last night, a fair example of what they can do in that line.

The Liberator Republic says that the tea went out of the river at that place on Monday, doing no damage.

Chicagoans are duck hunting about Madison—three large camps of them. The newly elected city officials go into office tonight.

The Chicago and North-Western freight building took fire on Saturday night from the sparks of a passing engine, but the flames were extinguished before they had gained much headway. The water in the river continues to rise and most of the mills have been compelled to suspend operations. There is a little anxiety on the part of the mill owners for the safety of their property, but as yet we can see no cause for alarm. The river is yet two feet below the high water mark, though it is rising at the rate of three or four inches a day.

Rock river has reached a point in its rise where it threatens to flood the brewery of John C. Todd in the post-office block. This is particularly unfortunate just now as Mr. T. will be compelled to suspend operations with a large number of unfilled orders on hand. His new brew room, which has been erected to build above high water mark, is not yet ready for use and the only thing he can do is to await the subsidence of the flood.

Futile Waiting.
"You told me an hour ago," complained the man with the satchel, "that the train was twenty minutes late."

"Well, it was," replied the station agent.
"But it hasn't got here yet."
"Oh, I thought you were asking about the train that had just passed." —Judge.

First he tried to be a preacher but he found he was no Beecher, and the folks who heard his sermons always filled the church with snore; then he tried his hand at farming but that craft was far from charming, for he hated early rising and he balked at doing chores. Then he got a job as clerk but he soon got tired of jorking cans of big sacks of flour and meal; and he failed in all his labors till his persistent neighbors said he'd wind up in the penitentiary as a chronic "Never-succeed." He had fifty thousand

The Best Quarter Section

In Rock County was woodland in the early days. Then the trees were cut and it was stump land and now it's the best farm land in the world. I have a quarter section that is in the second period of this regeneration.

Located in Wood Co.

It's 2 1/2 miles from town and in a good neighborhood. The land is nice and level, plenty of water but lots of stumps.

This is a snap for someone who has the courage to buy it and wait for the stumps to rot.
